

Set your sights on the opportunities to hunt right here in central Missouri!

Central Missouri's numerous public lands range from rich bottomland forests along the Missouri River to scenic rolling hillsides. These diverse habitat areas support an equally diverse amount of wildlife—and abundant hunting opportunities.

Far too many to list, our popular game animals include white-tailed deer, Eastern wild turkey, bobwhite quail, rabbit, squirrel, furbearers and waterfowl. During two of our most popular hunting seasons, Missouri hunters harvested about 200,000 deer and 60,000 turkeys annually.

The Missouri Department of Conservation offers hunter education to those who would like to hunt but lack experience. Workshops and clinics are plentiful throughout the central area.

Our Outdoor Skills Program offers children and adults the chance to learn hunting skills from experts in a safe, pressure-free environment.

The program also offers people with mobility impairments access to hunting opportunities.

Please note: Seasons and hunting regulations are specific to each region, so always review the published information via our Web site (missouriconservation.org/regs/) or written publications for the most up-to-date information.

Information about hunting regulations, permits and seasons is at your fingertips. Hunting permits are available for sale 24 hours a day, 365 days a year by calling 1-800-392-4115.

1. Dove hunting opportunities vary from year to year. Hunters should check missouriconservation.org/regs for actively managed dove fields and area maps.

2. Waterfowl hunting opportunities on conservation areas, with the exception of Eagle Bluffs, depend on fall precipitation.
